WILL REQUEST POWER PARLEY

Conference between city officials and the West Kootenay Power and Light Company, will be requested as soon as possible, it was decided at Monday's council meeting.
Meanwhile C. H. Neale will go to Trail and discuss several technical matters with power officials
before the city requests a reduction in power rates. Council feels that the city's power consumption has increased so much during recent years, that a reduction in rates is warranted. The reduction would be passed along to consumers.

Carson Makes No Mention Of Bridge in Reviewing Road Building Program

ALTHOUGH Hon. E. C. Carson, minister of public works, in a recent radio address gave a complete summary of the road building program planned for this province during the next six years, no mention was made of the proposed bridge across Lake Okanagan.

Mr. Carson said B.C. will have roads second to none when the vast program is completed. Transportation problem in the Okanagan was only mentioned when he referred to the third ferry which will shortly be put into operation. Cost of the new vessel was $825,000.

During recent weeks, Mr. Carson has intimated that a bridge authority may be the solution for constructing bridges in various parts of B.C. Under this plan, the money would be borrowed, and repaid through the medium of tolls.

Tet of Mr. Carson's address reads
as follows:

"A vast road-building program has been going on for the last five years. Those of you who travel the highways have seen mile after mile of new paved highway appearing each year. You probably consider that this is just part of a normal improvement in our road system,
which is becoming more and more important each year in the economy of our Province.

What I would like to talk to you about is the general plan behind these new paved highways, a plan that you, as individuals, cannot see for yourself.

Rebuild Highways

"In brief, it is this. Your government, since the war, has undertaken
the complete rebuilding of the entire main highway system of British Columbia, the rebuilding of projected three years in advance, but each year the money had to be borrowed. We were always faced with some doubt about the continuity of the work.

"The new plan is this. As you will recall, three years ago the province took over an extra tax of three cents a gallon on gasoline which the Dominion had levied in wartime. This money was earmarked for the purpose of hard-surfacing highways only. It was a guarantee to the public that they would get the paved roads they were, and are, demanding. That guarantee was carried out and in the four years including this year, it operated, the department has paved to modern standards in excess of 1,200 miles of British Columbia highways.

New Scheme

"Under the new scheme the revenue from this tax, instead of being spent year by year on hard-surfacing will be used as the financing charge against loans for much larger amounts.

"We will borrow the money for building our roads, and repaying them, against the security which this tax, now producing about $3, 400,000 a year, provides.

"Our financial advisers tell us that, over the next seven years, we will have $80 millions available by this means. Thus we can plan ahead with the full assurance we shall have the money to spend.

"The second important decision to which I referred, the signing of the agreement with the federal Government to build the British Columbia section of the Trans
Canada Highway.

"This is an historic decision. For the first time the Federal Government has agreed to contribute to our Provincial Highway system.
They will pay one-half the cost of rebuilding the road from Victoria through the Kicking Horse
Pass generally known as the Big Bend route to the Alberta boundary at Leamcreek.

"When I tell you that it will cost about $60 millions to do this job
and that a time limit of seven years has been set for the work, you will realize the importance of the plan.

"Our share of the cost will come out of the general highway program. And, since we already had voted $5 millions in anticipation of the Trans Canada Highway construction, it means that we have $121 millions in sight to spend on the construction of our main highways before the end of 1956.

Hand to Mouth

"In other words we can plan,
with the knowledge that the funds
will be available to spend an average of $17 million a year during that period in carrying out our program.

"This has never been the case before in B.C.'s history. Our road building (generally speaking) has been on a hand to mouth basis year by year. Each Spring we had to wait for new loan authorizations to get under way. Now we can see into the future.

"To those of us in the public works department who are concerned with the planning, and who are ambitious to give British Columbia
a completely modern paved main highway system for the first time, this has brought a new outlook.

"It means we can dovetail the letting of contracts in various parts of the province suitable to the seasons.
We can arrange the work at the best times. And in so doing we can save many thousands of dollars through long-range planning and thus get more work done
for the money available.

"To go back a few years for a moment, I would like to recapitu-late what has been done since the war. There have been 2,100 miles of highway reconstructed to the new standards. There have been 929 miles of this surfaced with long-wearing blacktop pavement.
On this we have spent approximately $87,000,000 up until May of this year.

"Adding this to the $121 millions
I have already outlined, you will see that it comes to a total of more than $168,000,000. That is why I have said that we are in the midst of the biggest job British Columbia
has tackled since Confederation.
And it is why I can say to you
when the present seven year program is completed in 1956, British Columbia will have a highway system it did not even dream about a few short years ago.

"In addition to the program I have been speaking about, there is the yearly problem of maintaining and improving the existing road system of the province. This, in itself, is a very heavy task. Last year, 1949, we had available for this purpose from general revenues $8.5
millions. This year, 1950, this amount has been increased to $9.0
millions in an endeavor to meet the ever-increasing needs of our expanding traffic movement.

Okanagan Ferry

"Let me enumerate some of the purposes for which a part of this vast sum is to be provided for the operation of our many ferry services, we will require an expenditure of $825,000. When the additional ferry is placed in operation on the Kelowna-Westbank

PASTOR GETS BIRDS EYE FLOOD VIEW

(The following impressions of the Southern Manitoba flood were written by Rev. Dr. A. J. Wilson, editor of the United Church Observer, the official organ of the United Church of Canada. Dr. Wilson was sent to Winnipeg by his church to bring assurance of help and support, and to get first-hand information as to the situation.)

I have read the Winnipeg papers constantly since the flood broke.
I have read dispatches in other papers. I examined all the pictures available. After I arrived in Winnipeg by air I was taken by Rev.
Dr. W. G. Martin, Rev. Dr. C. H.
Best and Rev. George Dyker to see the flooded areas. We saw Mc-Gillivray Lake, flooded Wildwood, bulldozers and trucks at work on the dykes at Lyndale Drive in Norwood and the evacuated city of St.
Boniface.

I was sure I was ready for what I would see when Dr. P. H. T.
Thorlakson and I boarded the little two-seater plane for a view from the air. I may have been prepared mentally but not emotionally. I am not ashamed to confess to tears as I looked down from 2,000 feet on a scene of utter desolation.

Modern Community

The hospitals, where medical skill and nursing had ministered to thousands of people, stood like silent sentinels to the love and affection of the modern community.
Schools stood in watery surroundings, playgrounds under three feet of water, the voices of the little children no longer heard. The University, from whose halls go out each year a stream of the province prepared in body and mind to become her future leaders, now almost inaccessible, and from our position, seeming a but surrounded by water.

It was homes, however, that moved us most. Hundreds of them,
whole streets of them under water.
Homes that were the pride of the little man, artisan, salesman, professional man, merchant, just ordinary, hard-working citizens. Most of them owned their own homes. I am told, and were steadily paying off the mortgages.

In imagination we could see the little family, budgeting carefully, discussing whether they could afford some new shrubs this year, or finish the driveway, or put in a concrete walk. We could imagine them moving the lawns and raking up and tidying around. All that was one day—the next, lawns gone,
homes flooded, houses inundated,
furniture ruined, life savings wiped out, the future uncertain.

Return to Homes

Further out there were the farms.
A few cattle here and there could be seen, on little green islands,
marooned by the swirling waters.
Barns and houses uninhabitable. I wondered where the people were
and how they were getting food.

crossing, this will require an added expenditure not provided in the above amount.

"Renovations of minor bridges and repairs and maintenance of existing bridges, will require an expenditure of $1.4 millions. I might point out here that the replacement of existing inadequate bridges and the provision of new ones adequate to meet today's heavy and fast moving traffic is, and will remain for some time, the department's most critical problem.

"Snow plowing—winter service—is an expanding cost. Mail and school bus routes, in addition to the day-to-day needs of other essential traffic in winter, must be provided for. Last winter we required approximately $1.2 million for this phase of our work owing to the unusual severity of the winter. For the 1950-51 winter service, we are providing $900,000, trusting that we may have a normal or less severe winter than last year.

"Centre line marking will be carried on, giving safer driving conditions on our paved highways. $100, 000 will be spent on this modern road.

"Improvement of arterial highways in cities and municipalities of the province calls for an expenditure of a further $150,000.

"These specially mentioned phases
of road and highway maintenance, and there are others less important, are not generally known.
Nevertheless, each year expenditures along the lines mentioned must be made to meet the requirements of present-day traffic.

"Earlier, I mentioned our concern about the tremendous problem in replacing bridges. In this connection we are, wherever possible, replacing old and inadequate bridges with culverts and fills. Handling this problem in this way may remove the romantic features of bridges, but the replacement will ensure for a very long period that there will be no further maintenance required.

"As an instance of the cost of this program we will in the Fraser Canyon, this year, invest $400,000
in culverts and fills to replace existing bridges which have more than reached the end of their useful life.

Material Shortage

"During the war period and due to shortage of materials at that time, the department was unable to maintain and/or improve highway signing on our road system. Last year we set up a signing branch of the department and we expect that by the end of the present year that all of our main highways and a good many of the secondary and feeder roads will be served by both cautionary and directional signs so important to the travelling motorist.

"In addition to this signing and to ensure that highways will not be cluttered up with all sorts of advertising, we have worked out with the auto courts and resorts a uniform type of signage which will be placed and serviced by the department for a small fee.

"This signing will provide the necessary information to the traveller, reduce the cost of signing to the resort operator and remove unnecessary signage from British Columbia's scenic highways.

"This has been a short resume of some of the problems and progress of our highway system. In closing, may I say again, drive carefully, the life you save may be your own."

and shelter.
It will take millions of dollars
just to necessary repairs after the water subsides. The real test will come, not tomorrow, but the day after tomorrow when the trek back home begins, excitement dies down
and the little family faces broken plaster and ruined furniture.
Money is needed—ten million dollars for the Manitoba Flood Relief Fund. It is not difficult to see this as the immediate need; but when the people return they will need encouragements and support from everybody. They should not be forgotten. Anyway, that is the way we feel after one of the most overwhelming experiences through which I have passed.

A PROBLEM OF EDUCATION
Many Canadian families are poorly fed, even though they are well enough off financially to afford a good diet. Individual preferences and long-time habits have much to do with diet and homemakers
should make an effort to guide their family's eating habits into more nutritious channels.

Letter Describes Many Hardships Suffered By Winnipeg Flood Victims

A graphic description of the hardships endured by people who were forced to leave their homes during the disastrous Winnipeg floods, was received by Mrs. O. C. Steele, 1788 Vernon Road, from a personal friend, Mrs. W. K. Ward, Dauphin, Man., who assisted in making the refugees as comfortable as possible.

Mrs. Ward, who is the wife of the editor of the Dauphin Herald, worked with Mrs. Steele in setting up a disaster co-ordinating committee. Mr. and Mrs. Steele came to Kelowna early this spring and purchased the De Luxe Auto Court. While the letter is personal, Mrs. Steele passed it along to The Courier, as it describes the many heartaches of those who were forced to leave their homes.

It reads:

"This is only the beginning. There is much more to come. I am already in little pieces. I can only pray the flood does not come your way.

"Our first evacuee train arrived at midnight with 500 French and German-speaking people aboard. Many were sick, too, and our hospital has set cots up in the health unit for the extras.

"These poor people were from St. Agathe, St. Jean, Silver Sands, St. Norbert and Morris. Not only had they gone through days of flood, but their first train had been stranded south of Portage and they had to be ferried to another, taken back to Winnipeg, and re-routed here. They were exhausted and when our workers went through with coffee, sandwiches, milk and doughnuts, they more often than not brought it right back up again, and they were so polite. It was the quiet courtesy that tore the heart.

Children Separated

"And course, seeing so many of these fine men with tears streaming down their rugged faces. One man, whose children were missing, paced up and down the coach, shaken with sobs. Three young children had not been seen or heard of their parents for a week, but were with relatives. And the families are so big—16,118 children.

"Bill worked all night hauling beds, blankets and mattresses in the Dauphin Memorial Community Centre, the United Church and Salvation Army, and I worked with the Red Cross women on the train, isolating sick children. The head of the health unit says he is not going to be neighbors anymore—I found too many. Later we went back to meet the four o'clock train after an hour's sleep, to see if Phil Sanderson's children were on it, and Lorna with Leigh, but no sign of them, so we settled some more families with the Salvation Army, then came home. I'm going over to the Salvation Army shortly to help with breakfast.

"The Red Cross women say they are making up another train for Dauphin with cases much worse off than these, though how they could be, is hard to imagine. These had only the clothes they wore, except for the odd family, with some cardboard cartons. They were thoroughly exhausted and quite a few had been injured. One woman had both legs amputated. How could it be worse?

"I miss you and yet I'm glad you are away from it. Get away fast if the waters come your way. 40,000 people had left Winnipeg by yesterday (the letter was written May 12); 67,000 telephones were out of order. It is impossible to contact anyone as we cannot use long distance, and wires may or may not be delivered."

From Headingly, Manitoba, comes a story of wholesome generosity shown by Mrs. Jack Keith in housing a whole family of Japanese flooded out from their home in St. Vital. Mrs. Naohi Watanabe, whose husband is working on the dikes near Winnipeg, was taken in with her eight children, ranging in age from 16 years to a year and a half, and cared for along with a St. Boniface couple, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Given.

Newly-Formed Rutland Sawmill Pays Off Outstanding Debts of Society And Will Now Work Double Shift

RUTLAND—The first annual general meeting of shareholders of the Rutland Sawmills Ltd., was held in the Community Hall with about forty persons in attendance. In the chair was James Brydon, and J. M. Jennings acted as secretary.

W. E. Hall, office manager, read a statement of the allocation of shares, and of the receipts and disbursements since the company took over from the Rutland Co-operative Society in February.

The financial statement showed that all outstanding accounts of the old society had been paid off, and the new company, with aid of advances on stock deliveries, was meeting its obligations. The chairman reported that the demand for lumber was high, and it was the intention of the company to start a double shift at the sawmill on May 29.

The box factory would close for a month, while a new stock of lumber suitable for shoe boxes was accumulated. The cold spring had made it necessary to shut down the mill for a month due to lack of logs. A lot of necessary repairs had been made in the sawmill during the winter before the new company took over and the mill is now cutting 25,000 feet a day.

The new manager, O. A. Perrault, was introduced, and he answered a number of questions. Had been that a second hand planer had been purchased in Winnipeg that would be able to take care of the increased cut at the mill. The present old style planer had to work double shift to keep the box factory running a single shift. He thought that the prospects for markets were excellent for some time to come, and that the mill, with its present sales outlets, and stock sales, should assure the Rutland Sawmills Ltd. a good market for its lumber output even if prices on the U.S. market were not maintained.

The acting directors spoke briefly on the financial picture. Both L. G. Butler and P. L. Fitzpatrick were of the opinion that the company was a sound investment, and favored the sale of additional capital stock. P. Sedlack moved and C. R. Bull seconded a resolution asking for an interim meeting in November to report progress, which passed unanimously.

After the general meeting adjourned, the holders of management shares met to choose the board of directors for the ensuing year. The present acting board were all re-appointed for the balance of the fiscal year. They are—James Brydon, president; J. Jennings, secretary; L. G. Butler, F. L. Fitzpatrick and James Snowsell.

John Hughes, brother of T. S. Hughes, secretary-manager of the B. M. L. D., left recently to visit friends in Vernon, after spending a few weeks in Rutland at his brother's home. He had been attending U.B.C. at Vancouver during the past year.

The school field was the scene of a hectic struggle when the Rutland teachers and the local fire brigade engaged in a softball game, featuring ed by heavy slugging and many errors. The teachers got away to a flying start when they pounded Don Reynolds out of the box to garner ten runs. Don had his revenge later, when he clouted a four run homer, and it was the highlight of the game to see the way Don went round those bases, like a cyclone, headed for a four alarm fire. Don followed it up with another homer later, and at one time the firemen were leading, but errors let the teachers regain the lead. They won eventually by 25 runs to 13. A return game is mooted for an early date.

Mrs. J. Patro is visiting friends at the coast.

Mrs. John Toffin and daughter, from Vancouver, spent the week-end visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Cross.

Musical Program and Miscellaneous Sale at Okanagan Centre Nets $90

OKANAGAN CENTRE—The program and sale sponsored by the Women's Institute at the Community Hall was a splendid success from every point of view.

Musical numbers were well received by the large audience, and included two accordion solos by Miss Ethel Uhrich; two violin numbers by Mrs. Bateman, accompanied by Mrs. Snowdon and a piano solo, Polka, in A flat, Chopin, by a good market for its lumber output even if prices on the U.S. market were not maintained.

The first of two short plays, both of which brought prolonged applause, was "Too Much Bluebeard," a farce in three acts by Gertrude Jennings. The scene was a sitting room in Mrs. Turner's apartment. As a prologue, Mrs. Bernau recited a condensed version of the old story of Bluebeard, to refresh memories, and the curtain went up with Sarah Crandlemire as "Mrs. Turner" knitting and rocking as the "Mrs. Knight" ably taken by Evelyn Cooney, enters with a tray of dishes, which she deposits in a shelved closet at the rear of the room, meanwhile giving Mrs. Turner a lecture on the evils of a horror horror stories to her grandson, Billy. She departs after the entrance of "Ann Roberts," Marta Uhrich.

In the second scene, Mrs. Turner's dream is enacted, as she had. This is a screamingly funny version of the Bluebeard story with "Mrs. Knight" attired as Bluebeard and "Ann Roberts" as Sister Ann, both of whom call Mrs. Turner "Fatima". The climax came when Mrs. Turner, just to prove that she is not "Fatima" bids Ann to open the cupboard door and show that the only contents are her dishes. But when it is opened, two rows of heads are revealed.

The second play was an equally amusing farce, and equally well acted, called "Ladies of the Mop". The scene is a darkened stage, near midnight, after the show. The characters, four mop "ladies" with palls and mops, appear in order, "Annie", Eleanor Kobayashi, who would have liked to have been an actress; "Mattie", who just loved the piano, H. L. Vernables, "Halle", whose fancy was dancing, Kate Evoy; and "Bessie" who thought she could sing, and did, played by Gwen Van Ackeren.

Director of the plays was Mrs. H. Gled. The sale which followed the program was conducted from four well-filled stalls, home cooking, candy and pop, sewing, and a long table of odds and ends from books and toys to plants and vegetables.

The treasurer reported a total of $90 was realized, which will help considerably with the social service work of the Institute.

A SIGN OF BEAUTY
Years ago the absence of pockmarks on a woman's face was considered a rare sign of beauty. In those days... and they weren't so long ago... a smallpox was a ruthless killer that struck frequently and regularly, leaving horribly disfigured those it did not kill. Nowadays vaccination provides complete protection against this ancient scourge. Vaccination is free. Don't endanger yourself and your community. Protect yourself today.

GROUPS READY FOR DISASTER IN PROVINCE

Red Cross disaster service committees in potential flood areas will be ready should a flood disaster strike in British Columbia.

This point was made at a meeting held at Red Cross House in Vancouver, attended by more than a dozen representatives from Fraser Valley and Lower Mainland points, many of whom were active during the floods of 1948.

The meeting was called by Eric Marsden, chairman of Red Cross disaster service committee in this province.

Its purpose was to correlate plans being made by the individual branches, with those of the B.C. Division.

In all cases Red Cross branch disaster committees are also working closely with civic authorities and other organizations in their own areas.

In the event of a flood, committees in each area would follow in principle the regular Red Cross disaster plan, which consists of supplying emergency food, clothing, shelter and medical aid.

Chairmen reported that their committees are now active, making surveys of volunteer help, lining up available halls and buildings for evacuation purposes, considering registration, transportation, mass feeding, clothing and communications.

A SENSIBLE PRECAUTION

Frequent and careful washing of the hands in soap and water is one of the best safeguards we have against many common diseases. The hands and fingernails should be kept as clean as possible at all times, but particular care should be taken to wash up before meals and after using the toilet. Remember, most germs enter the body through the mouth, many of them via the hands.

E. K. BOY SCOUTS CAPTURE OLIVER CAMP AWARDS

EAST KELOWNA—At the Fifth International Camporee held in Oliver May 19 to 21, the East Kelowna Boy Scouts Troop won two A and one B award.

The local troop did an excellent job of scouting and worked hard to win the awards. A large number of visitors from the Okanagan and Washington inspected the camp on Sunday, May 21.

A. M. Thompson was the first aid attendant during the camping period. Members of the group committee provided the transportation: F. Thorneole Jr., F. Turton, C. Ross and A. Ward. Tommy Harvie was credited with a job well done as acting scoutmaster with the first Kelowna Troop in the absence of Peter Acland.

The First East Kelowna Brownie Pack attended the May 24 celebrations in The City Park, with Mrs. W. Hince and Mrs. E. O. Middleton in charge.

CHEAP PROTECTION

All growing children need vitamin D each day. But vitamin D is not found in sufficient quantities in normal diets, nor can it be obtained practically from the sun's rays. Throughout the growing years children need to have vitamin D added artificially to their diet. It can be purchased in liquid, capsule or other forms anywhere in Canada at moderate cost.

Pete Scott Wins Own Game; Elks Too Much For Adanacs

KELOWNA 4, VERNON 3
KAMLOOPS ELKS 8, RUTLAND 1

WITH their ailing mound corps bolstered by the return of right-handed Pete Scott, Kelowna Elks Red Sox yesterday squeezed out a 4-3 win over Vernon Canadians at the northern city in a B.C. Interior Baseball League fixture.

While Scott was limiting the homesters to seven safeties—only two of them good for extra bases—the Orchard City boys made capital of infield errors in the fifth inning to come from behind and never look back.

At Rutland, the Adanacs came in for a surprise, going down to the Kamloops Elks 8-1 in another league fixture.

Occasional wildness on the part of Scott paved the way for the Canucks' first run that opened the scoring in the fourth inning. The Sox got that one back and two others in the fifth when two men got on through muffs by third-sacker Johnny Landon.

Two solid hits in a row and a ground-out drove in three runs to give the Sox a 3-1 lead.

Two-Run Homer
But A. Monk, who knocked in all of Vernon's runs, put the Canucks back into the game in the sixth when he banged out a four-bagger with one on.

The winner for Kelowna came in the eighth inning when George Garrow singled, stole second and came in on Scott's long single to right field. Vernon had runners in scoring position in both the eighth and ninth, but with Scott bearing down in the clinches and backed by sound fielding, the Sox held on to their narrow win.

LOCAL CRICKETER GETS HAT-TRICK

Kelowna Cricket Club, showing some smart batting power and bowling technique, scored their second victory of the Spencer Cup Cricket League yesterday, downing Vernon Legion 105-82 at Vernon.

One of the days highlights was W. Taylor's hat-trick while taking five League wickets for 25 runs. R. Dewhurst knocked over five for 29.

John Lomax was the best Kelowna batsman, chalking up 43 runs not out. Bus Hall accounted for 15, D. Hare 12 and H. Carr-Hilton 10.

Bruins Need Only 10 Men To Down Salmon Arm 8-5

A SHORT-HANDED band of Kelowna Bruins played it cagey to come out front 8-5 over the hard-pressing Salmon Arm Aces in a scheduled Interior Senior B Lacrosse League fixture before a small crowd in Memorial Arena Thursday night.

Flouring only 10 men, including spare goalie Ken Ritchie, to the visitors 14, the Bruins displayed some nice long-range passing to fashion breakaways for a 6-0 lead before the Aces could beat netman Al Laface.

Around their own fortress the Kelowna septet threw up a stout barricade, allowing few dangerous shots on Laface until fatigue caught up with the Bruins late in the game.

Laface held the fort clean for more than 35 minutes until Ernie Henderson finally beat him with a high shot at the 5:22 mark of the third canto.

Bruins led 2-0 at the end of the first, added three more in the second frame and were ahead 6-1 going into the finale. More reserves gradually told in the last 10 minutes as the Aces kept boring in to pour 10 shots Laface's way and beat him cleanly on four.

One-Game Suspension
The last half-minute of play produced the only flare-up in an otherwise cleanly-played encounter. Murdoch Preston drew a 10-minute major penalty, a match misconduct and a one-game suspension for using his stick with intent on Bob Wolfe.

The suspension was meted out by Dr. J. A. Urquhart, Kelowna's league commissioner, who witnessed the attack.

Wolfe and Preston took a dislike to each other while battling for the ball in the corner. Preston's swing caught Wolfe across the shoulder and felled him.

But seconds later Wolfe was on his feet fighting mad, swinging his arms like a windmill in a gale. Prompt intervention by Referee Augie Ciancone and teammates kept Wolfe from connecting. Wolfe drew a two-minute penalty for his part in the mix-up.

Summerland Merchants of the Okanagan International baseball loop will be the opposition on this week's midweek exhibition bill against the Kelowna Elks Red Sox. Game time at Elks Stadium Wednesday evening is 6:30.

Two weeks before, the Sox, in their first encounter with a team from the southern circuit, laced Penticton 6-3. Coach Dick Murray of the Elks wasn't sure who would get the starting pitcher nod, but it will likely be a toss-up between Eddie Kielbiski and Mike Bakowy.

PENTICTON, COULEE LEAD
Prior to Sunday's game, Penticton and Coulee Dam were pacing the Okanagan International baseball circuit with three wins each and one loss. Oliver, Mansfield, Tonasket and Onak had a two and two average, while Brewster and Summerland showed one win in four tries.

Wildcats are risky
To an oil man a "wildcat" is a well drilled in an area where oil has never been found. Drilling a wildcat is a risky undertaking and a costly one. Some wells have cost more than a million dollars—and have not been successful.

For that reason oil men make as certain as they can, before drilling, that there is a good chance of finding oil. They use the most modern instruments and skills to locate each drilling site; but still the odds are 20 to one against them. Only about one wildcat in 20 becomes a producer.

Over the past 30 years oil men have worked continuously against these odds. In western Canada Imperial alone drilled 134 wells—all dry—before the Leduc field was discovered in 1947.

But the end result has been new oil for Canada and benefits for Canadians. There are thousands of new jobs. Millions of U.S. dollars are being saved as the need for imported oil lessens. And, as another natural resource moves toward full development, the Canadian standard of living climbs higher.

These are real benefits to Canadians and they will increase as more oil is found. But to find more oil and to spread the advantages it brings, oil men must continue to work against long odds.

Sometimes a job that must be done can't be done without great risks.

Bringing you oil is a big job... and a costly one

About Canada's Oil—Canada's proven oil reserves now amount to about one billion barrels, as compared with only 72 million barrels in 1946.

It is estimated the oil industry will spend $150 millions for exploration and development in western Canada this year.

Last year Imperial drilled or shared in the drilling of 70 wildcat wells.

Wells drilled by Imperial to find and produce oil in Canada during 1949 totalled 231 miles in depth.

Here is a typical bank manager—43, married, with a growing family. He is active in community affairs. When he joined the bank as a junior, he was 17, just out of high school. He soon moved up. By his late twenties he was accountant in his branch.

He worked hard. All the time he was learning about banking, about Canada, too, in various branches, different areas... learning to know people—their hopes, fears, problems—the importance of the human factor.

At 36 he was branch manager. Now he has another, larger branch. And his way to advancement is still open. His general manager started as a junior, too... and carried with him to the top the business experience and human understanding gained along the way.

CITY DONATES $100 TOWARD FLOOD FUND

City of Kelowna has donated $100 toward the Winnipeg flood relief fund.

The secretary of the Federation of Mayors and Municipalities, in a letter to council last Monday night, asked the mayor to lead a flood campaign in the city. However, Mayor Hughes-Games thought that CKOV and The Kelowna Courier were doing such a fine job in acting as collecting agencies that he did not think it necessary for a "third party" to enter the picture.

Select Your Best Plants To Mature in Garden Row

Thin out excess plants gradually, and allow the best plants to live, using discards for table when possible.

Thinning out the plants that come up from the seed you have sown may give you an emotional shock. In fact, some gardeners just can't bring themselves to do it, and in consequence their plants are so crowded none can develop full size and vigor, and the crop is reduced in quality as well as quantity. There is no way to get a full stand in a row without sowing extra seeds; and the home gardener is well advised to do this. He may look upon the task of thinning out as an opportunity, which permits him to select the finest plants to develop and inferior ones to be eliminated.

For best results, thinning should be done in stages. In the case of a crop which grows best when the plants stand six inches apart, do not at first thin it to one plant for each six inches. There are two seasons for this: First, many vegetables, such as carrots and beets, are most delicious when half-mature. By thinning at first only enough to insure that each plant stands well alone in the row and then allowing them to

Perennial Flowers from Seed, Easy as Vegetables

To grow perennial flowers from seed, it is far better to sow them in the early spring than to wait for summer. There is no way in which an amateur can save money faster than by growing his own plants of those perennials which "come true" from seed.

Peonies, iris, and some others take several years to reach flowering size, and then cannot be depended to resemble the varieties from which seed were saved. But columbines, delphinium, coreopsis, hardy pinks, shasta daisies, hollyhocks, pyrethrum, poppies, and many other lovely kinds of the highest quality can be grown to full maturity in one year.

Many of them, sown early this spring, will give their first blossoms before the season ends; and for years to come will be beautiful performers in your garden pageant. Amateurs who have found difficult growing summer-sown perennials are usually surprised at the difference, when seed is sown in the spring. The usual practice is to sow the seed in boxes, or in a seed bed; then to transplant to garden rows as soon as the seedling plants are large enough to handle. Give them space in the row to grow until fall when they will usually be ready to take their place in the decorative border.

If you sow the seed in the spring, perennials can be grown there and given the same feeding and cultivation. Most of them are as easy to grow as the vegetables.

Four Popular Perennials Grown From Seed.

Plants are difficult to grow in large scale operations because of the limited area over which they can be distributed satisfactorily and the high cost of packing such fragile subjects for shipment. The gardener who grows his own pays only for the seed. The task of caring for the plants and observing their growth is a fascinating recreation, if he is a true gardener.

Squawks 'n' Beefs

A local resident is disappointed with the type of trailer accommodation in the city. He writes as follows:

I guess that I'm as tourist conscious as anyone, and on Sunday, while driving around our lovely city I took particular notice of the trailer accommodation. We have a trailer which we use for trips, and know what an American tourist with a trailer expects for his dollar.

While in Daytona Beach, Florida, (the mecca of Eastern Canadians, believe it or not, as there were dozens of Ontario and Quebec licences on the cars). We stayed at Steele's Tourist Park, the charges were $1 a night, $8 a week, or $20 for one month. In return the tourist got a grassy parking space for trailer and car, central road, children were on one side of the park with room to play, people with no young children were on the other side of the park. There was a central building, which housed two white tiled showers on each side, with four toilets and four hand wash basins; hot and cold water in abundance; a room in the middle for laundry, washing machines were the 25c an hour type and above all, was a fine recreation room complete, with radio, card table for bingo or reading, all for $1. Now during the course of our drive, I noticed one place that advertised trailer and tent space. There was lots of room to turn around, plenty of safe playing space for children, but no shade. A trailer can be an oven on wheels without shade trees, or a skeleton wood shelter. A tent can be suffocatingly hot. On the other hand, I noticed a sign "trailer space, $1.50 a night. This seemed quite a lot, since the trailers I saw were parked near some cabins, and didn't seem to have any special place for $1.50. I can't comment on the quality of the accommodation for trailers, not knowing what they are actually offered, but it would be to our advantage if the Chamber of Commerce or some interested party could contact these good people who are endeavoring to cater to trailer tourists (remember its only a year or two ago, that it was a common sight to see trailers returning on the ferry, after a futile effort to find a trailer park) and given them all the helpful suggestions that can be given. Sometimes it takes so little to modernize a trailer park, and it pays off good.

New Transplanting Method Speeds Up Plant Growth

Latest transplanting methods approved by experiment stations.

When an amateur sets out a plant in his garden, he should not be in a hurry. A little more time, a little more care, will be more than repaid in the pride he may take in the quick recovery of his plants from transplanting shock, and the fact that his losses will be few, if any.

In the diagram above, the best methods of procedure as recommended by research scientists are illustrated. Transplanting is horticultural surgery, and so every step in this technique has been carefully tested. To prepare for transplanting the plants should be fed with liquid fertilizer a week before the operation. The day before, a starter solution should be prepared, by hanging a cloth bag containing chemical plant food in a bucket of water and letting it soak overnight. Use 4 ounces of a 4-11-4 mixture or similar to each gallon of water.

Make a hole for the plant large and deep enough to hold its roots without crowding. Mix with soil at the bottom a teaspoonful of plant food, and cover this with soil. Set the plant in place, then pour into the hole, over the plant roots, 1/2 pint of starter solution. While the solution is in the hole, draw in the loose soil and firm it around the plant. The solution not only supplies nutrients but puddles the soil about the roots, making very close contact between soil and root and making it easy for the plant to take up water.

Roots of plants should not be pruned. In removing plants from pots, flats or seed beds, care should be taken to avoid breaking the root system. Replacement of lost roots must take place before the plant can grow very much. Tops of plants should not be pruned, as shown by research results. Pruning removes part of the "factory" which has to make the new plant material (carbohydrate) upon which growth depends. Pruning is likely to take off more foliage than necessary. Dead or partly dead issue does no harm, though wholly dead leaves may be picked off.

Shading is good practice when plants are succulent, when soil and air are dry and when sun is hot. But good plants can usually be set successfully without shade, especially if water or starter solution is used or if good contact between soil and root is established otherwise.

Fine of $5 was imposed in district police court May 17 on John Barney for crossing the double white line on a highway.

Spooks Haunt Living Room of City Home As "Blithe Spirit" Rehearsals Start

By ANN HUNT

There are mysterious goings-on at the Anderson residence on Lake Avenue. What with spooks haunting the living room you are likely to walk into your own shadow.

The living room is the scene for rehearsals of "Blithe Spirit" which Frank Lambert-Smith is directing.

Elvira the mischievous, "Blithe Spirit" is played by Doris Anderson, who fills merrily around the room upsetting the formerly peaceful regime of the Condamine home.

If you wonder who that character is gazing into the crystal ball, you will soon know. It's Madame Arcati, played by Helen Duke, who cries: "I'm in a trance—I'm always in a trance!"

Charles Condamine, the harassed novelist and husband of Ruth, is played by Frank Lambert-Smith. Ruth, his second wife, is played by Peggy Wilson, who is perturbed at the return of Elvira, her husband's first wife's spirit, whom she cannot see or hear. Charles not only sees her, but hears her.

Amusing incidents... This fantastic situation brings about many amusing incidents. The pace is fast moving, and the witty and pungent dialogue of this Noel Coward play makes it highly enter-taining.

Frank Lambert-Smith was in the middle of directly "Life of Steph-en Foster," in Vancouver when he came here to direct "Blithe Spirit."

He also directed "Othello" which won the best play, best actor and best actress in the recent Greater Vancouver Drama Festival.

Kelowna Little Theatre is privileged to have the directorship of Frank Lambert-Smith whose out-standing successes in the theatre include, "Quality Street," "You Can't Take It With You," "Arsenic and Old Lace," "Private Secretary" and his many brilliant Shakespearean productions.

The cast of "Blithe Spirit" have been well chosen. Peggy Wilson who takes the part of Ruth, second wife of playwright, Charles Con-damine, won recognition as one of the outstanding actresses in the Valley Drama Festival. She has played with the Edinburgh Little Theatre, and came here from Scot-land, three years ago. She played the part of the secretary in "The Man Who Came to Dinner," and also took part in "Cold Storage," a play written and produced by Helen Duke.

Varied Experience... Doris Anderson, plays the part of Elvira, the mischievous spirit, first wife of Charles Condamine, who comes back to haunt him. She has had a wide and varied expe-rience in theatricals. An A.T.C.L. she took an active part in the Summer Theatre of Pasadena. Her first success was scored in "Peg O' My Heart," which played in New West-minster, Burnaby, and Everett. She has directed several plays, and will be remembered for her performance of Mrs. Stanley in "The Man Who Came to Dinner."

Helen Duke who plays the part of Madame Arcati, has written and directed plays. A singing teacher of note, she is also a fa-tigued artist. She wrote and produced a one-act play, "Cold Storage." Be-sides teaching, painting, singing, and writing she is active in dramatics. She played in operettas in the Eldorado Players' Club.

Jack Hampson who will be re-membered for his part as the doctor in "The Man Who Came to Dinner" has the same type of role. He plays the part of Dr. Bradman in "Blithe Spirit." He is active in the radio workshop and played in amateur theatricals in Calgary.

Madeline Rolph, a nurse in private life, plays the part of Mrs. Bradman. Madeline is connected with the Eldorado Players' Club.

Minta Vernon plays the part of the maid, Edith. She has been ac-tive in UBC dramatics, and in the radio workshop. She played the role of Harriet in "The Man Who Came to Dinner."

Behind the scenes, David Ander-son is in charge of lighting, assisted by Ron Henderson, and Anita Ben-net and Florence Boyer are promp-ters. The latter two are both University of Alberta students. An-ita is taking drama and Florence is studying fine arts at the western university.

Stage Rehearsal... This reporter was treated to ex-cerpts from the first act and the last act of the informal stage rehearsal held at the Empress Theatre, last Thursday evening.

The situations and dialogue of this fast-moving comedy will have people rolling down the aisles, and the denouement (which I won't re-late here) comes as a smashing climax to one of Noel Coward's most brilliant plays.

"Blithe Spirit" will be presented at the Empress Theatre for two nights, June 7 and 8 and from ad-vanced tickets, it is sure to be a sell-out on both nights.

Many Paintings... The inside works were brought back in pieces from Germany by Mr. Wilson's son, John. The oak planks from which the intricate patterns were carved, came from Vancouver.

Mr. Wilson creates his own de-signs, and this particular one is an exceptionally lovely rose and leaf pattern. Even the brass face of the clock has a hand wrought de-sign.

Kelowna's third international art show continues until May 31, and features 113 paintings and rare an-tiques.

One of the most valuable paint-ings in the unique exhibit is a 17th century work by the famous Nether-lands artist, Jan Janssen. It is con-sidered a museum piece. The total quality is outstanding in this typi-cal Dutch pastoral scene. It por-trays the landed gentry surveying their property.

An exceptional watercolor by the Canadian artist, J. Hardcastle, en-titled "Merchant Ship of the East Indian Co. (formed in 1600) shows the regal beauty of the three mas-ted schooner sailing the seas in the 16th century. The painting has captured a rich depth of blue in the color of the sea. This is from the collection of G. L. Booth, Kelowna.

Portraits of a brother and sister have been recently painted by the English artist, John Emsor. They are from the collection of Mr. and Mrs. M. Kulpers.

"Flower Market in Brussels" is the title of an oil by Rev. Father De Lestro, of Rutland. There is gaiety and mood in this painting. The bright splash of flowers in their baskets and pots, arranged under the large umbrella stands. The women flower vendors in their black shawls, and in the back-ground, the outline of city build-ings.

Interior Artists... Noteworthy among the interior artists that figure prominently in this current art show, is the work of Irvine C. Adams. A Summerland artist, his watercolor, "Peach Orchard in Winter," is exquisite. In it he has captured the feeling of freshly fallen snow so realistically that you can almost touch it. The picture holds a promise of Spring in the warmth of the winter sun that casts its lengthening shadows across the road.

Kelowna artists have contributed many exceptional paintings. And in the still life, "Daffodils" by Mrs. W. A. Wallace, the composition is unique. The artist's choice of a mauve for a background sets off the pale beauty of the yellow spring daffodils. The whole treat-ment is gossamer light and airy. The painting is owned by the artist's daughter, Mrs. A. C. Steele.

"Maljane Lake" a pastel by Kel-owna artist, Alice Anderson, re-flects the beauty of Jasper National Park. The snow and cloud effect, the depth of colors in the snow-drops on the lake from the mountains and trees is realistically achieved.

There are scenes familiar to everyone in this collection of paint-

"ICEBOUND" HAS TWO-DAY RUN AT HIGH SCHOOL

The Kelowna Senior High School Drama Club presenting the three-act play, "Icebound," tonight and Tuesday night at the Kelowna Junior High Auditorium at 8 p.m.

The play by Owen Davies, won the Pulitzer Prize in 1924. It is more dramatic than any other local production of the last few years, but it has considerable comedy relief.

The cast is made up of the same group who played in "Little Wo-men" last year.

Playing the leading roles are Shella Moss as Jane, and Kirk Franks as Zen.

Also doing fine work are Roger Sneath, Ralph Rigby, Bunny Bol-ton, Monica Schuck, Jean Oker, Donna Ross, Oli Daum, Allen Rib-elin, and Hugh Fitzpatrick of the Senior High, with John Limberger of the Junior High School almost stealing the show as Orin. Christel Wassmuth is prompting. The pro-duction is under the able direction of Mr. G. Bishop. Stage managers are Mr. Hobson and Mr. Wood.

Betty Manning and the Hi-Y male quartet will sing during intermis-sions. Brian Weddell will be mas-ter of ceremonies.

Tickets may be obtained at the school on Monday or Tuesday evening, 6 to 8 at the High School.

TEA FOLLOWS GOLF TOURNEY

Kelowna golf course was the focal point of interest on Sunday when the Valley Sweepstakes In-ternational Ladies Golf Tournament was played.

Over 40 local members entered and there were 5 guests from various points in the valley, with golfers from Kamloops, Vernon, Oliver, and Pentiction participating.

The recently contested round of tournament, tea was served in the golf club lounge. The tea was convened by Mrs. B. Hillier and Mrs. Winston Shilcock, and various members of the club assisted as serviteurs.

Modern School of Art... Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Williams are two of Kelowna's colony of artists. "Still Life" by Mrs. Williams is a Chinese porcelain vase, exquisitely etched with fine detail. "Early Sunday" by Mr. Williams, portrays a Mexican scene. It achieves the feeling of tropical heat, the bright red tile roof of the Hacienda, the strong sun casting shadows across the threshold, the cactus plants, typical of the Mexican ter-rain.

"Ouse River" by Miss Mae War-ner, of Kelowna, depicts an en-tertaining scene in Ontario. The winter scene in Ontario, the deep blue river which has begun to run with the Spring break-up, will recall a familiar scene to Ontario people.

There is something for everyone to see in this third international art show at Mc & Mc's. There is the modern school of art or view with paintings from the school of rare old masters.

"St. Jan Cathedral" by A. Vaga-lar, of Netherlands, is an etching of the oldest cathedral in Holland. The precision of detail in the re-production of the lines shows the beauty of Gothic architecture to perfection. It is owned by M. Reid, Kelowna.

From Holland, one is transported to England with the watercolor by the English artist, A. Ross, entitled "Westminster Bridge." This will recall with nostalgic the famous bridge with the Houses of Parli-ament rising in the background. The artist has captured the mood of Westminster Bridge in the shadows, on the Thames River. This is from the collection of Mrs. Swan Olson.

"Portrait of a Woman" by Axel Hou, Danish artist, 1908, is a mas-trope. After the style of Rem-brandt, the artist has captured the studied look, a reflection of thought in this lifelike portrait. There is a perspective and depth in the ex-pression which reveals infinite patience of character.

Among the antiques on display there are art treasures. 16th cen-tury Pewter plate and mugs. Six-teenth century Greek church stool, Italian bedspread, lamp, Indian lac-quer work, French tapestry, pitch-er, lamp, Indian Princess ceremon-ial gown. CORDAY MACKAY WEDS IN CALIF.... Of interest in Kelowna and Vic-toria where the two principals are well known, is the recent wedding which took place at Burlingame, California, when Corday Bell Mac-kay, daughter of Mrs. Wm. Mackay of Kelowna, exchanged vows with Arthur Price Atkinson, only son of Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Atkinson, of Victoria.

They were wed on May 4, at 3 p.m. at a quiet ceremony at First Presbyterian Church, Burlingame, California. Rev. H. Booth Smith, D.D. officiated.

Following a honeymoon spent at Santa Cruz and Carmel-by-the-Sea, Mr. and Mrs. Atkinson have taken up residence in San Fran-cisco.

Hither and Yon

Drama and musicals are in the air in Kelowna. What with the "Leicester Square to Broadway" production which played to a capacity audience at the Memorial Arena last Saturday evening, and rehearsals of "Blithe Spirit" whirling that play into shape for the June 7 and 8 presentation at the Empress Theatre, and the opening night for "Ice-bound" taking place tonight at the Junior High Auditorium, there is plenty of entertainment on the bill of fare.

"ICEBOUND" the three act Pulitzer prize play will be presented by the Kelowna Senior High Drama Club for two nights, May 29 and 30. The play opens at the Junior High Auditorium tonight.

SILVER WEDDING... news of the silver wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Milk, fruits, vegetables, cereals, bread, meat and eggs are all necessary, together with water, iodized salt and vitamin D.

More About

The snow remains at the 2,500 foot level.
The water content of the remaining snow mantle has generally increased somewhat (three to 28 percent) during the first half of May, but at some high snow courses and in the lower coastal area a gain has occurred. The soil is generally damp; frozen ground is reported at some high snow courses, at Mission Creek at the 6,000 foot level. The water content of the remaining snow compared with that of 1949 at the same date is high. Compared with the expected total snow melt runoff the volume of snow water carried away is little. Steady high temperatures can produce a very high peak flow.

In the Okanagan watershed, the report states that:
On May 13 at Trout Creek there was 20.2 inches of snow holding 1.2 inches of water. The water content on May 1 was 10.7.
On May 15 at Mission Creek there was 58.7 inches of snow holding 2.4 inches of water. This was twice the volume of water at the same date in 1949.
On May 15 at McCulloch there was 10.4 inches of snow holding four inches of water. On May 1 there was 7.4 inches of water here, while on May 15, 1949, the snow course was bare.

VLA Small Holders Can Again Compete in Contest

Veterans' Land Act small holders can compete again this year for $1,200 worth of prizes in the B.C. division of a Dominion-wide competition sponsored by the V.L.A. administration to encourage agricultural development and home beautification.

Approximately 4,000 veterans and their families in B.C. are eligible, but they must complete and file special entry forms with V.L.A. before June 10, 1950. A total of 120 prizes will be awarded in this province, allocated proportionately to the number of small holders in each region.

Top winner will receive in addition the Canadian Legion Trophy, put up for annual competition by the B.C. Command and won last year by A. R. McKay of Kamloops. Numerous local prizes were donated by private firms and individuals for the 1949 contest and it is anticipated the same may be done this year.

UNION LIBRARY RENTS UNDER DISCUSSION

A special meeting of the board of management of the Okanagan Union Library was held here recently.

The meeting was called in order to meet the members of the public library commission who reported on a survey of union libraries in the province. The commission members assured the library board of their interest and offered assistance and support to the work being done by the library.

Members of the board present were: Mrs. E. A. Toad, representing Kelowna School Board, in the chair; H. Page Brown, representing Spallumcheen; G. C. Hume, Glenmore; Alderman R. F. L. Keller, Kelowna; W. D. Haddleton, Penticton; Mrs. A. D. MacKay, Penticton; T. H. Elliott, Salmon Arm; Mrs. George Simpson, Osoyoos; C. A. King, Oliver; Mrs. H. E. White, Penticton; school board, A. Reynolds, Salmon Arm municipality; Mrs. R. L. Carter, Salmon Arm; Mayor G. W. Game, Armstrong; Mrs. C. Jones, Armstrong; May N. S. Johnson, Enderby; Mrs. A. W. Vanderburg, Summerland; E. M. Rait, Umanland; Mrs. J. B. M. Clark, of Keremeos, was not present.

Consider Rents
Members of the public library commission attending the meeting were: Mrs. E. A. Toad, representing the commission; E. S. Robinson, chief librarian, Vancouver public library; Miss Margaret Clay, chief librarian, Victoria; H. Norman Lidster, city solicitor, New Westminster; W. C. Mainwaring, vice-president, B.C. Electric, Vancouver; J. W. Winslow, of Sumas, chairman of Fraser Valley union library board, was unable to be present.

The important question now before the board is that of rents. Much discussion took place before it was decided that the matter be tabled until the end of the year, thus allowing the commission time to consider the matter before presenting its report. It is hoped that one or more of the public library commission members will be present at the next meeting. It would seem to be the unanimous will of the board that the per capita rate cannot be raised at this time.

The annual meeting to discuss the report for 1950, and the budget for 1951, will take place in Kelowna on the first Wednesday in December, instead of January.

EDITORIALS

James Burnley made in 1901.
"There is no royal road to success," said Burnley. "The straightest road of all traverses the valley of hard work and, no matter how a man may beat about the bush in the hope of coming upon a short and easy cut, he will ultimately have to fall back upon the rough highway of toil. There is no other way. Some men talk glibly of 'secrets' of success as of something capable of being treated by medical formula or made the subject of 'tips', like a horserace. Others prescribe a dose of moral maxims, as old as the hills and as familiar to the mind of youth as copy-book headings. These good people mean well and what they say is worth remembering and may be useful: but there are no secret by-paths to success, nor can a man gain the coveted goal by simple rule of proverb. The experience that teaches a man to make his own proverbs is the most helpful."

To put Burnley's remarks another way: you get out of life what you put into it.
